

A photograph of two young children, a boy and a girl, playing with a large amount of colorful confetti. The boy, on the left, is wearing a blue and white striped shirt and has his arms raised. The girl, in the center, is wearing a pink dress and has her arms raised high, looking up at the falling confetti with a joyful expression. The confetti consists of many small, colorful, circular pieces in shades of red, blue, yellow, green, and purple, filling the air around the children. The background is a plain, light-colored wall.
